Time is the most valuable thing on this earth; nothing can be compared with it. Once it goes, never be back. It always runs only in forward direction and not in backward direction. Everything in this world depends on time, nothing happens before time. Everything requires some time to get done. If we have not time, we have nothing. Loss of time is considered as the worst thing on this earth because wasting time, wastes us and our future. We never acquire lost time again. If we have lost our time, we have lost everything.

Write the following paragraph in your English Writing notebook

Honesty will always stand us in good stead. By being honest we can be confident and walk with our head held high. If we are honest we do not have to fear anything. An honest person speaks only what is the truth and engages only in honest activity at all times. Honesty gives us great moral strength. It requires courage and boldness to be honest, as being honest may sometimes be difficult. But an honest and truthful person does not care for what may happen by staying with the truth. Honesty will succeed ultimately, while dishonesty will soon be discovered.
